Women of Need

Silent Samaritan

Women of Strength helping Women in Need.
Our local Samaritan Center has adopted a tradition founded by the Samaritan Institute of Denver, Colorado, in which women are asked to each give $100 so that other women with fewer financial resources can be empowered with the help of counseling. To establish this tradition locally, we are asking women to donate to a program called Silent Samaritan. This will allow women in the Bartlesville area, who are without the financial or insurance resources, to pay for counseling to receive long term therapy. Each contribution of $100 provides at least two hours of subsidized therapy. The need for assistance continues to grow.

- * Over 60% of those that seek counseling help are women
- * More women than men report having depression
- * Divorce, single parenthood and other realities make women more vulnerable financially
- * Women are more likely than men to be victims of physical, sexual, and emotional abuse
- * Women are raised to put their needs second which makes it difficult to ask for help

Hopefully, you can see why we are dedicated to raising funds to support women in need. Likely each of us has been helped at some moment in our past when we faced difficult problems.

Becoming a Silent Samaritan is a chance to give back. It is an opportunity to pass on some of the advantages you have received.

It is our goal to connect women of strength to women in need.

Your contribution will go directly into the Silent Samaritan fund to be used exclusively to pay for counseling services for women who are unable to pay for them themselves.
